Wednesday, Oct. 11, was the one hundredth anniversary of the battle of Valcour on Lake Champlain, one of the first naval engagements of the Revolution, in which Gen. Benedict Arnold's storeship, the Royal Savage, was sunk off the island. The remains of the vessel are still visible at low water.

A French translator is said to have translated the poet's exclamation,

"Hail, horrors! hail!" into "How do you do, horrors! how do you do?" This is no worse than the German's translation of Shakespeare's "All hail, Macbeth!" into "Alle Hagel, Macbeth!"

"What is the chief use of bread?"

asked an examiner at a recent school examination. "The use of bread," answered the wretch, apparently astonished at the simplicity of the inquiry, "is to spread butter and jam on it."

Owing to the vandalism of tourists and atmospheric causes, the sculptured monument over the grave of Bunyan at Bunhill Fields, is rapidly disappearing. It has stood nearly 200 years, and it is hoped it will be restored.

They are laughing at Victor Hugo for having sent to a fraternal banquet which he was unable to attend in person, "a shake of the hand from the bottom of his heart."

"Thank Heaven!" exclaimed a grateful old lady, after twenty minutes' exercises with a toothpick, "the huckleberry pie season is over at last."

A cunning Kentucky hog chews off grape vines growing from a tree and holding one end in the mouth, swings itself over the fence into a cornfield.

An agricultural school is to be opened at Naito-Shinjuku, Tokio, China, the students of which are to be instructed by an American teacher.

Ornithologists tell us that the owl is a wise bird. It certainly is a very

Solemn "un."

Denmark farmers now rush around and get in their hay with American moving machines.

SAGACITY OF THE HORSE.

A correspondent of the London Agricultural Gazette tells a good story of a horse trade in North Lancashire. Not long ago a gentleman asked a friend, a retired farmer, to go with him to look at a horse he thought of buying. A dispute arose among the parties with regard to the age of the animal. The dealer protested that the age he had given was correct—he had had him so many years and he bought him from the breeder.

"You did not such thing," said the farmer: "If I am not mistaken, I bred the horse myself." An altercation followed; each side was positive and the buyer was on the horns of a dilemma. At length the farmer settled it thus: "You say the horse is so old—I say he is five years older; you ask £50 for him—I say £30 is enough. I will wager a £5 note that I am correct, and on the result the price shall depend. Let the horse be taken into the yard of my late farm; let the harness be taken from off him, and if he does not at once, without any direction, go into stall No

CENTENNIAL

AWARD.

GRAND TRIUMPH FOR

WEBER

Pianos!

First Premium over all American and Foreign Manufacturers.

Copy of a Telegram received by Sherman & Hyde:

New York, Sept. 29th, 1876—Received the highest award for sym-phetic, pure, and rich tone, combined with greatest power, as shown in the three styles—Grand, Square, and Upright Pianos—which show intelligence and solidity in their construction, a pliant and easy touch, which at the same time answers promptly to its requirements, together with excellence of workmanship.

A. WEBER.

Never before in the history of piano formation has an instrument risen so rapidly in popular favor.

Its intrinsic merit and decided superiority over all others has caused every musician and artist of note to adopt and recommend it.

Nilsson says, "I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments."

Miss Kellogg says, "Your Pianos are my choice for the concert room and my own house."

Lucas says, "Your uprights are extraordinary instruments, and deserve their great popularity."

Patti says, "I have used the Pianos of every celebrated maker, but give yours the preference over all."

Strauss says, "Your Pianos astonish me. I have never seen any Piano which equal yours."

Wells says, "Madame Parepa called your Pianos the finest in the United States. I fully endorse that opinion. They have no rival."
